

The Wanamaker Store

Things are Booming

It seems as though all New York was waiting for our doors to open, yesterday morning. The store was as busy as in holiday times. Public desire has grown up behind snow-bound doors. January merchandise offerings at Wanamaker's had grown greater with each morning's news. The snow barrier was shoveled away, and like needle to magnet came the public to Wanamaker's.

And never was store more ready to repay a shopper for the journey, than Wanamaker's today. Here are the bright new things to see, enjoy, share, or study about, as your fancy dictates; and everywhere that the eye turns, there are special under-priced offerings of the most fascinating character.

Little wonder that public interest responds so quickly, when this great organization's enormous power and energy are centered upon making it pay handsomely to do January shopping at Wanamaker's.

Superb Fur Garments Reduced

The following list comprises some of the richest and most beautiful fur pieces in our stock—garments of which we have but one specimen of a kind, hence exclusive, unique.

We offer them today at the most radical of price depressions, in some cases half of former prices. Every garment is absolutely to be depended upon—our guarantee stands back of it. This is the list:

At $100, from $200—Box Coat of molen, trimmed with velvet.
At $100, from $150—Molene Eton Jacket, trimmed with velvet.
At $100, from $200—Genuine Mole Cape, long stole ends.
At $100, from $150—Combination Cape of squirrel and white caracul; long stole ends.
At $125, from $185—Double squirrel Cape, stole ends.
At $135, from $225—Box Coat of natural black monkey; collar and cuffs of ermine.
At $125, from $250—Eton Jacket of squirrel, trimmed with gray velvet and red cloth bands.
At $150, from $250—Eton Jacket of squirrel, combined with dyed squirrel.

At $150, from $250—Black Broadcloth Newmarket, squirrel-lined; elaborately trimmed with ornaments, broadtail collar.
At $150, from $250—Green cloth Newmarket, squirrel-lined; rich dark mink collar and revers.
At $175, from $250—Black Astrakhan Coat, trimmed with braid.
At $175, from $350—Genuine Mole Blouse, elaborately trimmed with passementerie.
At $250, from $350—Persian Lamb Box Coat; band collar of blue velvet, passementerie trimming.
At $175 set, from $250—Squirrel and Miniver Stole; fancy muff to match.

All Hand-Bags Reduced One-third

This is a pleasant announcement for every man or woman who is going traveling, and needs a new hand-bag for the journey. About a hundred and fifty fine Hand-bags—our whole regular stock—have been indiscriminately reduced by one-third from regular prices. So that

$3.50 to $80 Hand-Bags Are Now $2.30 to $53.35
Space forbids detailed descriptions. Suffice it to say that there are men's and women's hand-bags, in all popular shapes, sizes and leathers, such as Cabin Bags, Oxford Bags, and Club Bags, including some with English frames, hand-sewed. Some are silk, others leather-lined, and there are some handsome Fitted Bags in the group.

Such sweeping reductions are rarely chronicled on hand-bags of equally high quality. It's an instance of the extremes to which we are put to obtain needed space.

CAPT. FISH PLEADS GUILTY

And Makes a Statement Setting His Wife's Lawyer, Hugh O. Pentecost, Straight.

Capt. John A. Fish pleaded guilty in the Jefferson Market police court yesterday to assault in the third degree, committed on Lawyer Hugh O. Pentecost in the apartments which Mrs. Fish was occupying in the Chelsea at 222 West Twenty-third street on Jan. 4.

Ex-Justice Julius M. Mayer, who appeared as associate counsel with Frank A. K. Boland, for Capt. Fish, made a statement which he said that he wished to have attached to the affidavit in the case. The gist of the statement was that Lawyer Pentecost was present in Mrs. Fish's apartments strictly in response to a professional call, and for no other reason than the performance of his professional duties in connection with the case; also that the conversation between Mr. Pentecost and Mrs. Fish, which the Captain overheard from behind a curtain, related exclusively to legal affairs, and that the defense was willing to accept Mr. Pentecost's statement that Mrs. Fish's colored maid and her brother were present during the entire interview.

Embroideries--A Bright Spring Display in the Heart of January--1st Fl.

Designers have coaxed shuttles into fresh plays creating exquisite graces—original variations—beauty too delicate for type to interpret.

They are from St. Gall—the arabesques, filigree, rococo and ferny tracteries of Alpine snows must have inspired the lovely motifs that are worked out on filmy Swiss and fine, firm Nainsook, Cambric, Batiste and Linon.

Among the novelties are:

Linen Anglaise Embroideries—button effects
Swiss Embroideries—edged with Venise or Valenciennes Lace
Swiss Embroideries—Teneriffe—spider-web patterns
Linen Embroideries—Irish Point and button designs
Corset Cover Edgings—by the yard or piece.

An avalanche of Edgings, Insertings, Flouncings, Galloons, Medallions, All-overs and Matched Baby Sets.

Ice Causes Ferryboat Collision.

The Forty-second street ferryboat John Ingles, leaving Broadway, Williamsburg, for this borough yesterday morning, was carried out of her course and had much difficulty in reaching the Manhattan side. The Grand street ferryboat Dakota was leaving her slip in this borough and the tide swung her around. Ice impeded the movements of both boats and the Dakota crashed into the Ingles on the starboard side. The guard rail of the Dakota was smashed and a small portion of the men's cabin was stove in. There was much excitement among the passengers, but no body was hurt. The Forty-second street ferryboat escaped injury. The Dakota was sent to the repair yard at South Sixth street, Williamsburg, after her passengers had disembarked.
